COVID-19 COPY: The coronavirus has changed everything for all of us, yet we're inspired by the stories of the first responders and the countless heroes on the front line who are fighting this pandemic. There are also so many others who are making an incredible difference – people working in essential businesses, people who are assisting strangers, and educators who are finding new and creative ways to work with their students.

For many of us, the best thing we can do for everyone is to stay home and stay safe. Over time, this will change. However, Black isn't good at "doing nothing," so when educators reached out to us to see if we could provide online resources, she immediately said, "Yes." Much to the dismay of our accountants and attorneys, we're happy to make our book available, chapter-by-chapter, as a FREE PDF for educational purposes.
